

EXECUTIVE SUMMARY

RISK SCORE

98

Dangerous • High risk and major red flags.

COMPATIBILITY

20

Low Match • Poor fit with your goals.

FINAL VERDICT

REJECT

The contract contains predatory financial penalties, claims ownership of personal side projects, and mandates unpaid labor, directly violating the user's requirement for side project autonomy.

TL;DR: This contract is extremely high-risk and is strongly recommended for rejection in its current form. The agreement contains predatory clauses regarding unpaid labor, an oppressive three-year bond, and overly broad intellectual property and non-compete restrictions. You should not sign this document and instead request a complete overhaul of these terms or seek a different opportunity.

 RED FLAGS (5)

Compensation HIGH

You are working for free, which is often illegal for technical roles and provides zero financial security.

Intellectual Property HIGH

The company owns everything you write, even if you do it at home on your own laptop for your own projects.

Bond HIGH

This is a predatory 'golden handcuff' clause that forces you into a 3-year commitment or a massive, likely unenforceable, financial penalty.

Working Hours MEDIUM

This creates an expectation of unpaid overtime and poor work-life balance without any additional compensation.

Non-Compete HIGH

This prevents you from working in your field for a year and a half after the internship, which is absurd for an entry-level role.

DRAFT NEGOTIATION EMAIL GEMMA 4 · 31B

Dear [Hiring Manager],

Thank you for the offer to join your team as an intern. After reviewing the Internship Agreement, I have identified several terms that I am unable to accept in their current form.

Specifically, I would like to discuss the compensation structure to ensure it aligns with legal standards for technical roles. Additionally, the current intellectual property clause is overly broad, and the three-year bond and eighteen-month non-compete are disproportionate for an internship position. I also request a clearer definition of working hours to ensure a sustainable professional balance.

I am very excited about the possibility of contributing to your company, but I must ensure the agreement is fair and mutually beneficial. I am open to discussing a revised version of the contract that addresses these points.

Best regards,

[Your Name]

Position

Clearly defines the role as a Software Engineering Intern.

FinePrint uses AI and does not constitute legal advice. Consult a qualified lawyer before signing any binding agreement.